

Layers

By: Dorcas, Rutendo.Shoko

LAYERS

Description

My design is called 'Layers' and I was inspired upon a visit to my village in Mberengwa in Zimbabwe. As we were driving back I got the chance to sit at the back of the truck and experience the layers of mountains in different shades and textures. I sat in silence for 20 minutes before realizing what nature had inspired me to create. A story of the layers of heritage and nature our nation of Zimbabwe has preserved.

First Hand Research for my Design

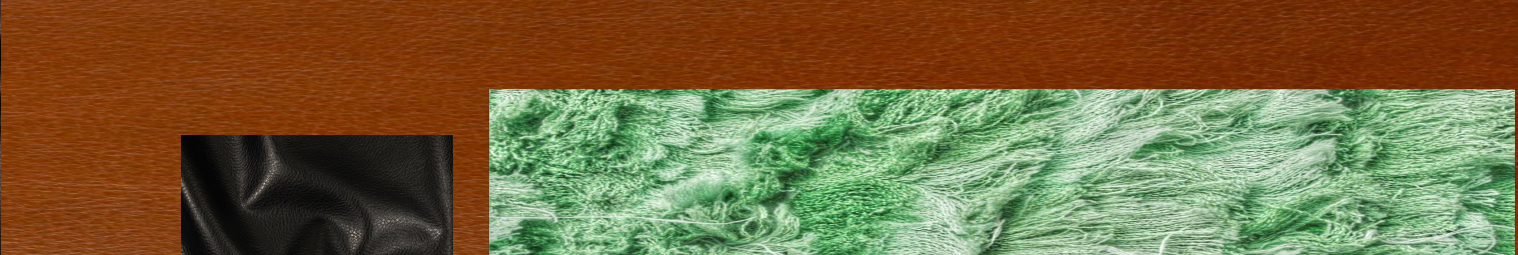

Second hand research from Pinterest

— — Although my design was drawn from sitting at the back of a truck for 8 hours I had to do more research on it in order to bring my idea to life. By taking these two concepts of layering one frame over another and embroidering details into my dress. I want to create not only a beautiful work of art but a story of how things aren't always as they seem, you must study it, understand it and then see it as a whole. That way you may truly appreciate it.

How the leather is to be layered

Using Leathers from Mr Solget from Uganda who is an expert in leather tanning, I aim to promote regional and international integration and collaboration to help boasting leather sales world wide.

The End

