

Phone: 3341807663
E-mail: raussabrinal011@gmail.com

Sabrina Raus

Portfolio

Where cultures meet each other

Mix of cultures and characters

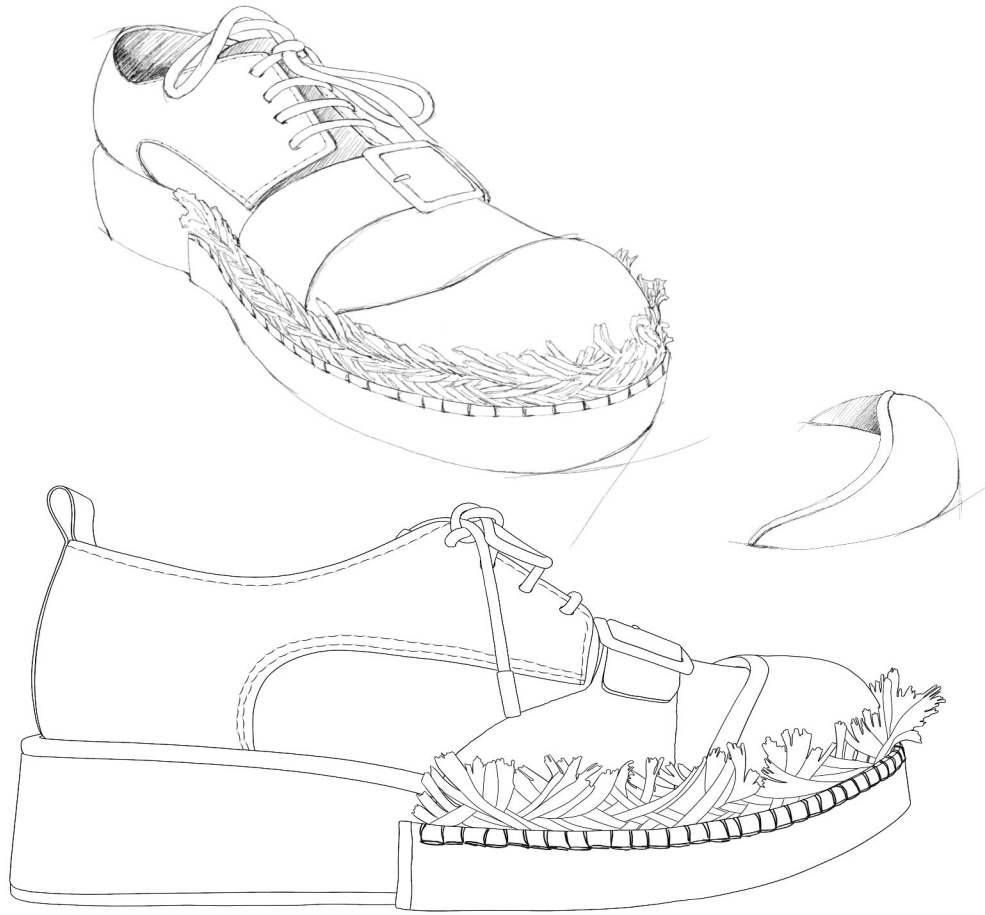

'Melting Pot' is a term for a heterogeneous set of groups, individuals, very diverse in class, status and ethnicity living together within the same geographical area. It is the result of a path that investigates the combination of different elements that interact with each other in a single product. The footwear development process was born in a workshop, in which various elements belonging to different types of footwear in terms of style and character were selected and tried to make them work together on a single shoe to generate a new identity. The shoe consists of a rubber toe cap and front of the bottom, aspects reminiscent of the converse shoe, has a raffia stripe on the front that gives the shoe a more ethnic look, all mounted on an upper taken from a derby.

JERBY

WHAT'S
inside

-  Pelle di vitello spazzolato
-  Gomma
-  Gomma

